PLANNING & LAND USE MANY

MOTION

In the past few years, technology and innovation have expanded and fundamentally changed the way people travel and vacation. Visitors to Los Angeles and cities around the world routinely use "short-term rentals" in lieu of hotels to stay in and experience a community. The impacts of the short-term rental industry have been dramatic – in both positive and negative ways.

Tourists who stay in short-term (less than 30 days) rentals relish the opportunity to stay in Los Angeles' many and diverse neighborhoods, and experience our City as "a local." Many short-term rental hosts speak glowingly of a "sharing economy" and their ability to make ends meet by renting out a room or their back house. Tourists and hosts alike speak of new friendships and the positive benefits of this new form of vacation experience.

At the same time, critics have decried unfavorable consequences, such as the impact on some residential neighborhoods, which are changed by a revolving cast of visitors and their impacts. Significantly, in some popular tourist communities such as Venice, speculators have subverted the "sharing economy" business model, converting regular rental housing into short-term rentals, significantly reducing rental stock and contributing to increased rents and decreased affordable housing. In some cases, large numbers of units in the same building, or entire buildings, have been converted to short-term rentals, operated by off-site management companies.

The City's current zoning regulations do not anticipate or effectively govern short-term rentals, and need to be revised so that the City can effectively preserve rental housing, protect the character of residential neighborhoods, and collect transient occupancy tax that pays for crucial City services. Neighboring cities, such as Santa Monica and West Hollywood, have already crafted local ordinances.

Last month, the City Administrative Officer released two reports regarding short-term rentals (CAO File No. 0220-0513-0000, Council File 14-0593 Relative to a Comprehensive Study on the Sharing Economy and Its Impacts on the City of Los Angeles, and CAO File No. 0220-05153-000,0 Council File No. 14-0600-S89 Application of Transient Occupancy Tax for Short-Term Rentals). Those reports framed the issues facing City policy makers.

I THEREFORE MOVE that the City Council direct the City Planning Department, with the assistance of the City Attorney, in consultation with the Office of Finance and other relevant City departments, to prepare and present an ordinance governing short-term rentals in Los Angeles in the following manner:

- Authorizes a host to rent all or part of their primary residence to short-term visitors, permitting someone to rent a spare room, a back house, or even their own home while they are out of town.
- Prohibits hosts from renting units or buildings that are not their primary residence or are units covered by the Rent Stabilization Ordinance (RSO), forbidding speculators from creating a syndicate of shortterm rental properties, and prohibiting the loss of valuable rental housing stock.

Captures Transient Occupancy Tax (TOT) from all hosts.

From:	Government Relations Committee

Motion by:	Bonin and Wesson. Seconded by Koretz
Council File #	14-1635-S2 Short-term Rentals

Summary:

The impacts of the short-term rental industry on Los Angeles have been dramatic – in both positive and negative ways. Positive because it allows legitimate residents ("hosts") to put a little extra money in their pockets to help make ends meet by renting out part of their primary residence. Negatively because of the transient impact on neighborhoods and, by speculators who subvert the intent of the current ordinances by converting regular housing into short-term rentals. This conversion significantly reduces rental inventories and contributes to increased rents and decreased affordable housing. For example, large numbers of units in the same building or the entire building have been converted to short-term rentals, operated by off-site management companies thereby increasing rents and decreasing affordable housing.

A legitimate host may continue to rent a room, the little house out in back or their whole house while they are out of town. But if a "host", either a resident or Management Company, subverts the current Los Angeles ordinances it becomes an overwhelming burden for the City to enforce ordinances that were on the books prior to the invention of short-term rentals. Not only does Los Angeles have issues with short-term rentals but so does Santa Monica, San Francisco, Chicago, etc. Santa Monica, San Francisco and other cities have already updated their laws. It's now Los Angeles's turn.

CF14-1635-S2 is a motion by the City Council directing the City Planning Department, with the assistance of the City Attorney, in consultation with the Office of Finance and other relevant City departments, to prepare and present an ordinance governing short-term rentals in Los Angeles in the following manner:

- Authorize a host to rent all or part of their primary residence to short-term visitors, permitting someone to rent a spare room, a back house, or even their own home while they are out of town.
- Prohibits hosts from renting units or buildings that are not their primary residence or are units covered by the Rent Stabilization Ordinance (RSO), forbidding speculators from creating a syndicate of short-term rental properties, and prohibiting the loss of valuable rental housing stock.
- Captures Transient Occupancy Tax (TOT) from all hosts.

Fiscal Impact:

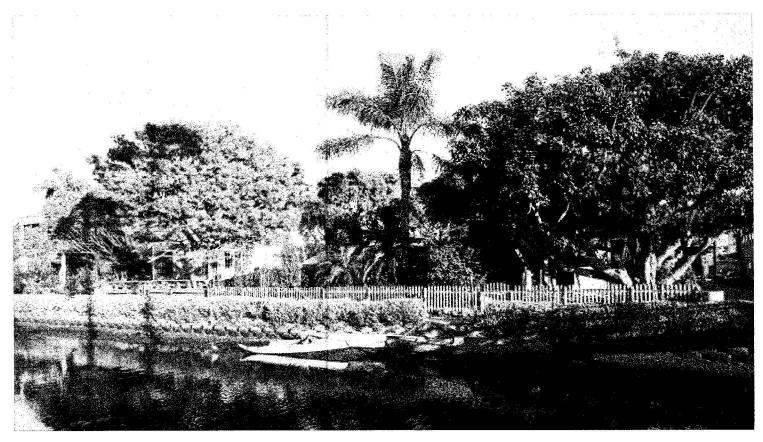

Recovery of lost Transient Occupancy Tax.

Motion from committee:

The Government Relations Committee moves a FOR vote on CF14-1635-S2, and that CF14-1635-S2 be sent to the city clerk via the Department of Neighborhood Empowerments website for inclusion in the council file as a Community Impact Statement from WHNC.

Residents want L.A. to do more to enforce short-term rental regulations

Venice Canals residents said one home was often rented out for short-term stays. Dozens signed a petition and urged L.A. officials to take action, but the city terminated its case in May. (Katie Falkenberg / Los Angeles Times)

Agenda Item 16-0014

SEPTEMBER 26, 2015, 2:00 AM

n the tranquil neighborhood of the Venice Canals, residents said they were fed up — and ready to take action.

Dozens signed a petition complaining about noise and nuisances such as a fraternity "drunk-athon" at one home along the picturesque waterways. They told Los Angeles officials that the house had been illegally turned into a kind of hotel, rented out for a few days at a time through websites such as Airbnb and VRBO.

To back up their claims, residents piled up evidence, including online listings displaying photographs of the home. They even furnished a rental contract for someone who had scheduled a short stay, confident that would prove their point to city inspectors.

The Venice homeowner was eventually ordered in December to stop using the house as a hotel. But months after the city handed down its order, neighbors contended the house was still being regularly rented out for short stays. This spring, they again provided documents showing that someone had booked it for five nights.

Yet the city terminated its case in May without taking further action "due to insufficient proof," according to Department of Building and Safety spokesman David Lara.

As Airbnb and other platforms make it easier to rent out rooms or whole homes for short stays, the debate over regulating such rentals has revolved around what kinds of rules Los Angeles should enshrine. But for many Angelenos, the bigger question is whether the rules will have any teeth.

They're talking about writing a new law, when all they need to do is enforce the existing law.

- Patricia Rickles, Venice Canals resident

"They're talking about writing a new law, when all they need to do is enforce the existing law," said Patricia Rickles, one of the Venice Canals residents.

The Venice Canals rental host, Daniel Goodman, said he had stopped renting out the home for short stays, instead offering it solely for longer periods that are legally allowed. He disputed claims about excessive noise and partying at the house and said he had paid nearly $1,000 in fines.

"The bottom line is, I paid the fine and I stopped," he said.

Neighbors aren't convinced. Making the rules stick is a perpetual worry in a metropolis where the zeal to make laws often outstrips the willingness or ability to enforce them. Critics fear that even if Los Angeles prohibits what City Councilman Mike Bonin has dubbed "bad" rentals — operators buying up apartments or homes and renting them out nonstop like hotels — it will be powerless to control them unless platforms turn over information about their hosts, an idea that Airbnb has resisted.

As it stands, renting out apartments or houses for short stays is illegal in many residential areas, according to city planning officials. At a recent hearing at City Hall, housing department head Rushmore Cervantes said officials have received dozens of complaints about "illegal usage" of apartment buildings this year.

Yet housing officials so far, Cervantes said, have been unable to muster enough evidence for City Atty. Mike Feuer to prosecute any of the owners — nor has the Department of Building and Safety, which has not turned any such cases over to Feuer, according to his spokesman, Rob Wilcox. Wilcox declined to specify what kind of proof Feuer and his attorneys would need to take such a violation to court.

The lack of action has convinced some critics that the online platforms need to lend a helping hand. "No city has the resources to send inspectors to all these properties," said Judith Goldman, one of the cofounders of Keep Neighborhoods First, a group concerned about "commercialized" short-term rentals. Instead, she argued that Airbnb and similar companies must "give the city the data they need" to enforce the laws.

But Airbnb, the biggest player among the online rental platforms, has resisted turning over host information without a subpoena, arguing that it violates privacy to turn over "broad swaths of confidential, personal information to bureaucrats."

In Portland, Ore., for example, some officials have tangled with the company over providing data to help track down hosts who failed to register with the city. Its law requires hosts to undergo a home inspection. As of this month, only about 10% of rental hosts in the Portland area have sought or received the required permits, city officials say.

"There's rampant noncompliance," said Portland City Commissioner Nick Fish. When critics say the city needs information to find the scofflaws, Fish said, Airbnb and other platforms "raise the specter of Big Brother, which is complete nonsense. We have an obligation to make sure guests are safe."

Airbnb also vigorously opposed a California bill that would have required it and other rental platforms to regularly turn over data to government agencies about the addresses, amounts paid and number of nights occupied for its rentals. And it is pushing back against a San Francisco ballot initiative that would require it to report regularly on how many nights a unit was rented.

Airbnb regional policy head David Owen argued that relying on the companyto hand over data to enforce city rules would be unfair. "We're one business model. We happen to have that data. There are many others that do not," he said. He added that the company was not alone in raising privacy concerns: In Portland, the ACLU of Oregon said it was wary of ensuring government access to such information.

As the debate simmers in Los Angeles, city inaction has left some Angelenos convinced that officials are deliberately ignoring complaints about such rentals. Venice Canals resident Ed Rucker, who worked for decades as a criminal defense attorney, was galled by the idea that Los Angeles investigators had too little evidence to pursue their neighbors.

When Goodman, the Venice Canals rental host, was asked about the rental agreements that residents provided to the city, he said both bookings had been canceled. Neighbors, however, point out it was the visitor who canceled and remain unconvinced that Goodman stopped the day-to-day rentals, since online listings appear to continue advertising the house with minimum stays of less than a week.

NEWSLETTER: Get the day's top headlines from Times Editor Davan Maharaj >>

In a lengthy email to his neighbors this year, Rucker said a council aide to Bonin had indicated that such violations were not being pursued as "a policy decision."

"It doesn't matter how much evidence is produced — they will not enforce it," Rucker said recently.

Bonin spokesman David Graham-Caso said that wasn't an accurate reflection of what the council aide said, countering that the staffer had simply told Rucker that the city had limited resources to deal with the problem. "It is very, very challenging to enforce the city's current rules, but it can be done," Graham-Caso said in an email.

New regulations would make enforcement easier, by focusing city resources solely on the "bad" rentals, Graham-Caso added. Owen, the Airbnb representative, also argued that adopting clear and simple rules would ease the enforcement challenges for the city. But in the Venice Canals, some residents are skeptical.

"The city doesn't enforce stuff," Venice Canals resident Darryl DuFay said. "I don't know if they won't or they can't or they just don't."

Zoning Administrator's Adjustment Reduced Rear Yard 23115 Sherman Place West Hills

1. Describe what site characteristic or existing improvements make strict adherence to the zoning regulations impractical or infeasible: and explain why the project nonetheless conforms with the intent of the Zoning regulations: and

The subject property is a 27,993 square foot parcel of land located at 23115 Sherman Place in West Hills. The property is located adjacent to other properties, which are primarily medical related buildings, including West Hills Hospital and Medical Center. The applicant proposes to build a onestory 9655 square foot medical Office Building on the site and related parking (51 spaces). The property is zoned CR1-VL (10,560 square feet) and P-1 (17,432 square feet). The property to the north and east of the subject property is Zoned CR-1VL and P-1VL with an approved Zone Change which, if effectuated, will change the entire property to (Q)CR-1VL The property to the west is Zoned QC1-VL with an approved Zone which if effectuated will change the zoning on the property to QRAS4-1D. Properties to the south across Sherman Place are zoned (Q)CR-1VL.

The applicant propose the reduction of the required 15-foot rear yard as required in the LAMC to 0 feet and the construction of the medical office building adjacent to the north (rear) and east (side) property lines. The adjoining properties are improved with surface parking lots on both of these property lines. The subject property could be changed entirely commercial in accordance with the General Plan. The applicant has considered the substantial time required for such a Zone Change and the substantial expense to obtain the change in zoning. The archaic Commercial and P zoning pattern on the site greatly reduces the square footage that can be built without going through prohibitably expensive and time consuming Zoning process. The applicant proposes a one-story building with related surface parking. The building is located entirely in the CR portion of the site. The reduced yard allows the maximum square footage which can be built which is far less the amount of FAR permitted by the Community Plan. The adjoining property on the north side adjacent to the reduced rear yard is completely developed with surface parking which serves the Medical Office Building on this property. The applicants request is reasonable and consistent with the General plan for this area of West Hills.

2. Describe how (in light of the project as a whole, including any mitigation measures imposed) the project's location, size, height, operations and other significant features will be compatible with and will not adversely affect or further degrade adjacent properties, the surrounding neighborhood, or the public health, welfare and safety; and

The proposed Developments size, height, are minimal considering the maximum use permitted by the existing Community Plan. Most of the medical office buildings in the West Hills Medical Center are multiple stories. The proposed reduction in rear yard does not adversely affect any property. The operation of the proposed development as a medical office building is entirely compatible with this area and is a further development of the neighborhood with medical service related uses as envisioned by the Community Plan.

3. Explain why the project is in substantial conformance with the purpose, intent and provisions of the General Plan, the applicable Community Plan and any applicable specific plan.

The project is in complete conformance with the General plan. The plan does not contain any provisions that would prohibit the proposed yard adjustment request. There are no Specific Plans in this area.

Dear West Hills Neighborhood Council,

We are requesting a grant to help fund our school magazine. These funds will enable us to publish a glossy professionally printed magazine that is distributed to over 600 students and educators at school. A sample is attached.

The cost of the printing is $275.00 per printing, with 600 copies on a every other month basis. The printer is Printing Center USA in San Diego.

Our magazine serves to showcase the achievements of our school community. It allows teachers a teaching tool to inspire students to create work that is "published". In this day of electronic media, a hard copy magazine is a wonderful medium for students and parents to view as a celebration of academic success.

This magazine serves to motivate our students to pursue excellence. It serves to give recognition to young writers and budding artists. In due time, these young students may choose to pursue careers in journalism and the arts due to the influence of being featured in the school magazine.

Thank you for your kind consideration.

Dear West Hills Neighborhood Council,

We are applying for a grant to request a covering for the Kindergarten Play Equipment in the playground. In recent years, the school is starting in mid-August, which is a very hot season in the San Fernando Valley.

Our young students are not able to use the play apparatus, when the heat from the sun makes the metal too hot to touch. With a shaded covering, the students will be protected from the heat of the summer sun and can safely play on the equipment without injury.

Thank you for your kind consideration.

Dear Members of the West Hills Neighborhood Council,

Nevada Avenue Elementary School serves a student population of approximately 500 students in grades Pro--Kindergarten through Fifth Grade. We are schoolwide Title 1. During the 2015-2016 school year we have focused on providing students with good first teaching, intervention for struggling readers, and bi-monthly parent trainings. The parent trainings focused on providing families with strategies to help support student learning in the areas of reading comprehension, writing, and mathematics.

We at Nevada Elementary School seek to provide our students with materials to use during the long summer months. Our intent is to provide Pre-Kindergarten through Second grade students with workbooks so that they may continue to review and keep up with skills they will need for their upcoming school year. The Summer Bridge Activities workbook is Common Core Standards-based.

Several years ago our school district provided workbooks that would help bridge each student to the next academic year. Many of the families of our students do not money to provide students with workbooks to practice the skills they've learned during the school year. Our California Content State Standards call for every school to help equip and produce college and coreer ready students. It begins with us at the elementary school level and so we, at Nevada, would like to provide students with a bridging workbook where they can review their previous grades' standards and start practicing the standards of their new grade level in August. The cost of purchasing grade specific workbooks for students is $2400,00. We appreciate The Neighborhood Council taking an interest and helping in our quest to prepare college and coreer ready individuals.

For your records, the Los Angeles Unified School District's federal tax identification number is 95-6000-908W.

Sincerely.

MOTION

Last week, the Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD) released the citywide crime numbers for 2015. According to the report, crime rates rose to their highest levels in two years, with a 20.2% increase in violent crimes and a 10.7% increase in property crimes over 2014 numbers.

While any increase in crime must be carefully examined, it is important to understand the broader context of crime levels in Los Angeles; 2015 numbers are on track with the five year average, and we are living in the lowest per capita crime level era since the 1950s.

In addition, crime rates in Los Angeles mirror the trend of rising levels across the state of California, with increases seen in both our neighboring cities and major cities in the state.

In order to address this increase in crime, the Los Angeles Police Department acted to double the size of its Metropolitan Division, which is reactively deployed around the City to address crime hot spots as they occur. In doing so, it moved officers from the more preventative patrol function.

To prevent this increase in crime from gaining momentum, and to ensure that the City of Los Angeles remains the safest big city in the nation, it is important that the Council has a better understanding of what is driving the overall increase in crime, what crimes are the major factors in the increase, the specifics of the Department's Metro strategy and its efficacy to date, any impacts associated with moving officers from the patrol function, and other strategies the Department is considering and pursuing to address this uptick.

While many of the factors that influence crime rates are out of the direct control of the LAPD, it is critical to understand how the Department is deploying the resources allocated it by the Mayor and Council, inasmuch as it shapes future budget decisions.

I THEREFORE MOVE, that the Los Angeles Police Department report to the Public Safety Committee on the City of Los Angeles crime levels over time, the current uptick, an analysis of possible causes, and provide recommendations for solutions, including a detailed explanation of the Metropolitan Division strategy.

I FURTHER MOVE, that representatives from the Los Angeles Police Protective League, and the Los Angeles Command Officer's Association, the organizations that represent the City's sworn officers and the police command staff respectively, be invited to the Public Safety Committee meeting to present their own analysis of and recommendations for addressing increasing crime levels.

RE:	CF16-0094 / City of Los Angeles Crime Levels

Summary:

Crime rates are up in Los Angeles as well as across the state. The LAPD has acted to double the size of its Metropolitan Division, which is reactively deployed around the City to address crime hot spots as they occur. In doing so, it moved officers from the more preventative patrol function.

The Metropolitan Division is a city-wide deployment division made up of 5 platoons and the K-9 unit.* Platoon A is administrative, Platoon B & C are crime suppression units, Platoon D is SWAT, Platoon E is the mounted unit and then the K-9 unit.

This motion from Councilman Englander is asking that the LAPD report to the LA City Council's Public Safety Committee on LA crime levels over time, provide an analysis of possible causes, provide recommendations for solutions, including a detailed explanation of the Metropolitan Division strategy.

The motion also asks that the LA Police Protective League, LA Command Officer's Association and organizations that represent the City's sworn officers be invited to present their own analysis of and recommendation for addressing increasing crime levels.

Fiscal Impact:

None to the City's budget at this time. In future budget years, if additional personnel is increased, costs may significantly impact the City budget and stakeholders in all areas of Los Angeles.

Recommendation:

The WHNC's Public Safety and Emergency Preparedness Committee recommends a Yes vote on CF16-0094.

It is true that recent legislation has released criminals back to the streets. Statistically and anecdotally (thanks to social media) we are seeing an increase in crime across LA for the first time in years.

However, what is the best method to address this increase in crime? Are the stakeholders of West Hills and the City of Los Angeles better served by increasing the numbers of one division, the highly trained and heavily armed officers of the Metropolitan Division, using the "hot spot" strategy; or by increasing the numbers of highly-trained and well-armed officers using a city-wide policing strategy with consistent preventative patrols that build rapport with residents in the areas they serve? Should one method of policing be given more credence than another? An analysis will help answer these questions.

This CIS supports Councilman Englander's motion asking for analysis of the "hot spot" and city-wide preventative policing strategies. The analysis is doubly relevant since whichever strategy is used it calls for increasing the numbers of sworn officers and therefore increasing the budget in the coming years. The more information the City Council and the stakeholders of West Hills can gather the better the decision will be.

The WHNC's PS and EP Committee recommends a Yes vote on CF16-0094, City of Los Angeles Crime Levels, and that it be sent to the city clerk for inclusion in the file as a Community Impact Statement.

and that it be sent	to the city cierk for inc	ciusion in th	e file as a (community imp	act Statement.

Metro Division Organization

A Police Captain III serves as the Commanding Officer of Metropolitan Division. Under the direction of the Counter-Terrorism and Special Operations Bureau (CTSOB), exercises line command over the operations of Metropolitan Division and the line platoons. The Commanding Officer may authorize the use of explosives during an entry by the SWAT team upon approval from the Commanding Officer, SOB.

There are five field platoons (B, C, D, E, and K-9 Platoons) and an operations platoon (A Platoon); all platoons are supervised by a Lieutenant II. The Operations Platoon performs the administrative and support functions. "B" and "C" Platoons are primarily responsible for crime suppression. Special Weapons and Tactics (SWAT), "D" Platoon personnel, respond to emergency situations involving barricaded suspects or hostages. "K-9" Platoon and "E" (Mounted Unit) Platoon makes up the remainder of the Division. The Division also maintains a doctor, crisis negotiators and other specialists in weaponry, computer science, and audio-visual technology.

A Platoon personnel provides the support function for the Division. In addition to the administrative duties, they coordinate Metro's many tactical firearms training programs, ensure compliance with state-mandated (POST) training, and maintain the extensive Metro armory of specialized weapons. Additionally, the Crime Analysis and Deployment Detail utilizes automated repressible crime information Citywide to determine Metro deployment in identified "hot spots."

"B" and "C" Platoons are primarily responsible for carrying out the crime suppression missions. Their most active function is maintaining selective enforcement details in high frequency crime areas and targeting repeat offenders and criminal predators. Particular efforts are directed to the suppression of burglary, robbery, auto theft, and burglary/theft from motor vehicle. More recently, efforts have been aimed at attacking violent repressible crime.

"D" Platoon (SWAT), in addition to its crime suppression assignments, has the duty of handling situations where SWAT is essential. SWAT provides the Department with 24-hour coverage necessary for immediate response to barricaded suspects, snipers, crisis and hostage negotiation s, potential suicide related situations, and other high-risk incidents. Rapid deployment, surprise, extensive tactics training and thorough planning are the seals of successful SWAT operations.

"E" Platoon (Mounted Unit) began as a volunteer program and was formally integrated into the Department in 1988. The Platoon currently has 32 horses and is located in a state-of-the-art Ahmanson Equestrian Facility. Officers and their horses deploy on City streets or during special events and add to the Department's professional image. Beyond that, the Mounted Platoon performs crime suppression duties and responds to crowd control incidents

"K-9" Platoon deploys highly trained handlers and their canine partners to conduct searches and apprehend felony suspects. The dogs are agile, well disciplined, and often sacrifice their lives for officer safety. K-9 personnel are deployed around-the-clock, seven days a week. They are available to assist any Department entity with searches for felony suspects. Two K-9 officers have also been trained in search and rescue operations using dogs.
